

2017

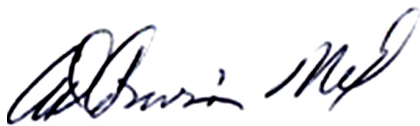

Dear Residency Candidate:

On behalf of the faculty and residents of the NYC Health + Hospitals/Lincoln Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, affiliated with Weill Cornell Medical College, I would like to welcome you to our website. In this essential phase in your professional training we here at Lincoln are eager to guide you into becoming our doctors of tomorrow.

The large volume of patients provides residents with many learning opportunities to transform into excellent clinicians and surgeons. We have dedicated faculty who devote their time to advancing our residents' education and careers. Our diverse resident body provides insight from health systems around the world, which enhances their learning from each other. You will find that our program offers exceptional training which is wide in breadth and depth. We strive to train obstetrician/gynecologists who are critical thinkers, compassionate providers, and skilled clinicians.

Our intent is to teach high quality evidence based Obstetrics and Gynecology in an exciting, challenging, and compassionate manner to prepare our residents for their careers and the real world after residency.

Best Regards,

Andrew Corwin, MD
Associate Chief and
Residency Program Director
